Not many years ago, astronomers and physicists discovered, for public consumption at least, there are huge "holes" in space.

Yes, "holes" or inexplicable voids which contain nothing, which consume atoms and light years of space which actually are missing in such places.

I've been one to say "I can't imagine 'nothing'," no physical property at all, not even empty air, which has some molecules of something.

Black space holes of nothing? It is difficult enough to understand the vastness out there, but to understand some of it isn't there at all?

Imagine riding along in a space ship, one spaceman kidding another one:

You heard the one where the experienced space traveler warns: "Look out for that void."

And his friend in another rocket says: "What voi-d-d-d-d-d-d-------?"

Patricia Hearst, once ransomed for millions in food by the Symbionese Army, is now wanted on a charge of kidnapping of an 18-year-old youth.

It gets more difficult all the time to tell kidnaper from kidnapee.

Beef, pork, poultry, egg and fresh vegetable prices fell more in April than any month since 1967. April's overall index was .6 percent, about half of the average monthly inflation gain of the past year.

Food had gained enough in the past year, so the drop is a leveling, rather than any serious threat to the agriculture producer.

Better that prices level than plummet.

Three Injured In Sunday Accidents

Two traffic accidents Sunday afternoon sent three persons to hospitals and inflicted damage to vehicles.

Cameron police investigated a two-car collision at 4 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of Fourth and Travis. Receiving minor injuries in the accident was Diane Smith of Temple, who was treated and released from St. Edward Hospital. Other driver, Frank Stanislaw of Buckholts, was not hurt.

Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus reported a one-car mishap at 6:30 p.m. Sunday on SH 36 near Ideal Poultry Farms. Ronald Hopkins of Grand Prairie and Diane Parker of Rio Hondo were taken to Scott and White Hospital for treatment of undetermined injuries. The two were injured when their station wagon left the road and hit a culvert.

Audit Report Urges City Reorganization

Reorganization of city offices under the direction of the city's accounting firm will be accomplished in the coming months following action by the city council Tuesday evening.

Main Lafrentz and Co., of Waco, made recommendations in the city's last audit report and were designated by a council committee to set up the system they recommend.

The committee included City Atty. Ed Magre, and Councilmen Bob Clark and Lawrence Zotz.

The committee said in its report that the need for the reorganization has been pointed up by "the difficulties in receiving adequate accountings on Urban Renewal project matters and on Revenue Sharing expenditures along with the inability to account for several hundred dollars."

In other business, the council heard from Mayor Gene Blake that Walled Lake Door Co. is concerned about its waste disposal problem, now under fire by the Texas Air Control Board.

Blake said he has asked for help from CTCOG and Sen. Bill Patman. "There should be some relief for small communities that have problems of limited landfill sites," Blake said. He added that the city can't handle the waste from Walled Lake Door.

Councilman Bob Clark asked about help from the county. "We (several mayors) presented a request to Commissioners Court to consider a site for solid waste disposal and they turned us down cold," Blake said. He said cities could share in the cost of a county landfill operation on a per capita basis.

Council also:

--Approved a request from Police Sgt. Kent Butler to organize a motorcycle safety course;

--Voted to lease the airpark hangar to a new renter following futile efforts to get the present renters to keep the place clean;

--Approved an increase in taxi fares contingent upon the taxi owner's strict compliance with the taxicab ordinance;

--Agreed to pay the firetruck driver, Claude Burgess, $700 per month to comply with the new wage and hour laws and amended the budget to take care of the increased costs;

--Directed the street department to clean up in preparation for the mall dedication on June 7;

--Appointed the mayor and Councilman Ernest Moore to supervise repair work on City Park pavilion;

--Designated the width of Harding St. between 10th and 21st as a 40-ft. street for paving;

--Tabled decision on street marking.

COYOTE CONTROL is offered to ranchers who have taken the training in its use and received a permit. Shown by Walter Lester, the control kit consists of, from left, a setter, housing, fireing device, capsule holder, cyanide capsules, and at upper right is the bait. A "Danger" poster, in English and Spanish, also goes along for display where the device is used.

Food, Entertainment To Liven Folk Fete

It's a good thing this year's Folk Fete will last three days, because it will take every bit of that time to absorb all the sights, sounds and tastes of the annual affair, according to preliminary details released by fete officials.

The food sounds delicious, entertainment sounds wonderful, and further interest will be sparked by the various arts and crafts booths with displays for the fete visitor. And a downtown parade will also be one of the delightful features of the fete.

A list of the food booths makes the mouth water, with enough variety for everyone's taste. Corn on the cob will be offered by the German Folk Dancers, the Evening Lions will have sausage links, Johnny Gelner will offer barbecue, Lupe Flores a Mexican plate, Josephine Flores, hamburgers; Mrs. Felipe Martinez, a Mexican plate; Cameron Rotary, pizza; Cameron Volunteer Firemen, barbecue and sausage; Boy Scouts, soft drinks and popcorn; Arthur Cobb, spaghetti and meatballs and homemade pastries; and the Central Texas Women's Club will have sweets to top off your meals.

William Kelm is in charge of the food booths for this year's fete.

Charles Hundle, chairman of the entertainment committee, said the list of performers is not yet complete, but did list the following who have signed up so far to perform inside the Armory, site of this year's fete:

The Seaton Czech Beseda Dancers, Czech choral group from Seaton, Youth concert - a band from Seaton, Ed Kadlecek - accordionist from New Braunfels, African Folk Dancers from Temple, Der Sour Krauts from Humble, the Taylor Czech Chorus, Cameron German Folk Dancers, and the Reinsteiners, an "oompa" band from Cameron.

Dances will be held in the Armory on the three nights of the fete. On Friday Otis Beck and the Best Yets will play from 8 to 12 p.m. The Blue Vest Boys will play from 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, with entertainment in between. On Sunday, Don Shuffield and the Western Swingsters will play from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and the Vrazel Polka Band will take over from 6 to 10 p.m. to wind up the fete.

Milam Red Cross Chapter Sets Planning Meeting

There will be a meeting of the entire membership of the Milam County Chapter of the American Red Cross on Tuesday, May 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Rockdale State Bank.

The purpose of this meeting is to plan projects, first aid training sessions and decide where training of volunteer workers is necessary. Jim Burleson of the Dallas Division Office will be present to advise and to bring information from the Division Office.

Nelson Mueller, chapter chairman, asks that all present, former and prospective Red Cross volunteer workers attend this meeting even though considerable Rockdale Centennial activities are also being scheduled for the same evening.

At the present time the chapter is active in blood bank work, first aid training and several other areas. Work needs to be done in the area of disaster planning and other areas. All interested persons are urged to attend the meeting.

Yoe Baccalaureate

Baccalaureate services for Yoe seniors will be held Sunday at 8 p.m. at Yoe Field. Rev. Thomas Dusek of Cameron will deliver the address.

Annual Calvert Chamber Banquet

Dr. Reagan Brown, special assistant to Governor Dolph Brisco, will be the speaker for the Calvert Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet, May 30.

The banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. in the gym of Calvert High School.

Dr. Brown is a former county agent, a rural sociology professor for Texas A&M, and has recently become one of Governor Brisco's special assistants.

President Frank Kemble announced that the gym will be decorated in a rural motif that depicts the Victorian heritage of Calvert. Tickets may be purchased at $3.75 each by contacting the Chamber of Commerce.

Ranchers Ready For Predator Control

With the final training sessions in the use of the M-44 predator control device scheduled to be completed this week in the state, more than 1850 Texas ranchers have already received permits to use the cyanide spring ejector for the control of coyotes.

In Milam County, some 90 ranchers have been trained and received permits for use of the control device, according to County Agent Bill McCutchen. He said a few ranchers are now using the device, but most will probably wait and use it during the fall and winter months when the coyote problem is at its height.

McCutchen said the coyote problem in some parts of the county is "real bad," with good-sized calves being killed by the predators. Also on the coyotes' banquet menu are baby pigs, baby calves, and chickens.

And sheep and goat raisers must keep the animals penned at night to prevent loss to coyotes, McCutchen said, as the coyotes particularly go after them.

Ranchers in 44 counties, including Milam, have been attending training schools to learn the proper use and techniques of the control device.

The experimental program is being administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas A&M Extension Service.

"Monthly reports from ranchers using the control device are already beginning to come in and participating ranchers are doing an excellent job in complying with the regulations of the experimental program," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Commencement Exercises Set For Buckholts

Graduation ceremonies for Buckholts seniors and eighth grade graduates will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the school gym.

Special guest speaker will be Rep. Dan Kubiak of District 36, introduced by School Supt. Leon Brady.

The valedictory address will be given by Debra McNeill, top ranking senior, and Jimmy Hauk, high school principal, will present awards. Diplomas will be presented by A. W. Zajicek Jr., president of the school board.

Senior class graduates include Harold Gaas, Laurie Lee Junek, Debra McNeill, Paul Mendoza, Larry Orsag, Glenn Roesler, Douglas Williams, and Sherry Williams.

Eighth grade graduates include Charles Collins, Dudley Haisler, Pamela Haisler, Donna Kay Hause, John Kuzel, John Lehmann, Sally Mendoza, Calvin Sanders, Ricky Shaw, and Monte Williams.

Manpower Funds Due For County Programs

Milam County will receive $107,520 in funds for its manpower projects for the coming year, according to figures released Friday by the CTCOG.

The Department of Labor informed CTCOG that the eight - county regional manpower cooperative arrangement will receive at least $834,000 in funds for the manpower projects.

Bill Everett, CTCOG director of manpower planning, said that the figures released are tentative. Congress has not made any fund authorization yet, he said.

Labor Department tentative allocation for summer Neighborhood Youth Corps slots in Milam County totals 57.

Sunken Ship Memorial To 1,104

Early on the morning of May 27, at 103 National Cemeteries across America, dignitaries and visitors will gather to memorialize those who have given their lives in the nation's wars. One of the most dramatic and moving of these observances will occur at the nation's most unusual military gravesite -- the USS Arizona Memorial at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Resting on the bottom of Pearl Harbor in 38 feet of water is the hulk of the battleship USS Arizona, sunk in the surprise attack on December 7, 1941.

Arizona, struck by five large armor-piercing bombs, died at its moorings beside Ford Island, along with 1,104 sailors and 73 marines out of its 1,500-man crew.

The battleship became the permanent tomb of more than 1,000 of its dead. Trapped pockets of gas made it too hazardous to salvage the hull or remove the bodies.

Arizona's dead, ranging in rank from seaman to admiral and including many races and religions, came from 759 different towns in 49 American states and territories - a true microcosm of the American melting pot. Their names are inscribed in marble in the Memorial.

Dedicated on Memorial Day, 1962, the Memorial was built with a combination of Federal and State of Hawaii funds as well as public contributions. It can be reached only by boat and the Navy operates a free public boat service to and from the Memorial.

The Memorial has become Hawaii's most popular visitor site. Since 1962 nearly 3.5 million visitors have taken the Navy boat trip out to the Memorial while another 7.5 million have passed it on boat tours of Pearl Harbor.

Spanning the sunken battleship's hull, the Memorial is an enclosed bridge, 184 feet long, which rests on two massive girders supported by pilings. It does not touch any part of the ship's hull, which is clearly visible in the harbor waters beneath.

There is a widespread but erroneous belief that USS Arizona has never been decommissioned as a ship of the U.S. fleet. Stricken from the Navy Register during World War II, the battleship is described by Navy officials at Pearl Harbor as being in "sentimental commission" and ships passing the Memorial customarily render passing honors as they would to an active ship.

As a special tribute to all the American fighting men who died in the Pearl Harbor attack, the American flag is flown daily from a flagpole mounted to the ship's mainmast.

Town Hall Discussion...

We note Seaton School District patrons will hold a town meeting June 13 to discuss tuition for transfer students to Rogers School District.

The town hall approach has been uniquely successful in Cameron over a span of almost 10 years. It should work for Seaton district residents who either agree to more taxes or operate about $5,000 in deficit.

At question is the cost of tuition for sending about 30 Seaton transfer students going to Rogers High School.

Rogers had recently approved consolidation of the two districts while Seaton patrons defeated it. The result is an effort to pay tuition for the 31 Seaton students in Rogers.

It would seem unusual to raise taxes to send students out of a district, which, in effect, acknowledges that Seaton high school students can get a better education in Rogers. But a deficit would result otherwise.

Problem with consolidation is that people want low taxes, better schools and local school identity in a diminishing population area. And that is hardly possible.

But the town hall discussion will bring out the various viewpoints built around these basic facts. We hope the two districts get their students together for better educations.

After all, isn't that the point of schools?

What Others Say

Milk And Funnies

It has always been a little depressing to newspaper journalists to think about what people might be using their newspapers for after they are a day or two old. The thought of all those lovingly crafted sentences being wrapped around what's left of the fish, or pushed hurriedly under the puppy, was just too dismaying to contemplate.

But in this dairy state of Wisconsin it cannot go without comment that government researchers in Japan have come up with a new wrinkle for old newspapers. They pour molasses over them and feed the mess to four Holstein milk cows to provide a sixth of the animals' daily food. So far the cows are still yielding good milk.

Of course. How could anyone have expected otherwise?

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

IT'S TIME TO BE QUIET

Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (Va.) "... I would like to insert into the Congressional Record, and excellent and timely editorial by Howard Flieger. It appeared in . . . U.S. News & World Report." (Condensed editorial follows):

Now is the time for all members of Congress to stop sounding off for or against the impeachment of the President.

Both Senators and Representatives should have silenced themselves on the subject the instant the House Judiciary Committee began studying the matter of impeachment. In fact, the time to keep quiet arrived many weeks ago.

This is not being written in defense of Richard M. Nixon.

The point to all this: When and if articles of impeachment emerge from the Committee, it will be up to the members of the House of Representatives — every last one of them — to decide whether the accusations are of substance sufficiently serious to be placed before the Senate for trial.

So what is all this loose-tongued chatter verbally batting the grave issue of impeachment back and forth like a badminton bird?

It reminds one of the old, unfunny joke about the vigilants who collared a suspected horse thief and announced they would "give him a fair trial and then hang him." According to the polls this Congress is not held in very high esteem by the voters who elected them. If the idea becomes widespread that it is playing party politics with the fate of a President, a lot of incumbents could be in for a shock come November.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

It's daily being demonstrated that the television "news reporters" are nearly always just "television news-speculaters." Congressmen who will act as a jury should leave speculating to the television news speculaters. These individuals are well known for their ability to "tell 'em what you're going to tell 'em, then tell 'em, then tell 'em what you told 'em.

All Congressmen should take the hint that, It's time to be quiet.

Delegates Zipping Along On Constitution Revision

The end may be in sight for the historic Texas Constitutional Convention which began last January.

Delegates have been zipping along since they came back to work after the May 4 primary election, and only one major article — the catchall, controversial General Provisions — was left to complete on tentaive passage at mid-week.

After that, of course, lawmaker-delegates must go back through the whole package on final consideration. And only those articles receiving a two-thirds majority vote can be submitted to voters.

Actually, the convention has until the end of July to complete the entire revision effort.

However, President Price Daniel Jr. has expressed hope for a much quicker windup. Daniel, of course, pushed unsuccessfully for agreement on a proposed revision before the primary election, then had to settle for a month's recess during April.

Convention leaders debated whether to submit a $1 million budget — enough to last until mandatory July adjournment — or to budget piecemeal, hopeful of getting through within a few weeks.

Daniel expressed a preference for budgeting through July, then "giving a lump of it back" on earlier adjournment.

However, Administration Committee Chairman Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon said he was concerned that appropriating through July would tempt delegates to stay that long.

Meanwhile, Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards gave delegates some practical advice on how to get new constitutions adopted. His own state has just approved one.

PRIMARIES CANVASSED — Executive Committees of both Democratic and Republican parties canvassed returns of the May 4 primary.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe is officially the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, having won over Frances "Sissy" Farenthold 1,024,335 to 438,564. W.H. Posey of Houston got 31,498 votes and Steve S. Alexander of Waco 26,889.

Republicans certified James H. (Jim) Granberry as their candidate for governor. Granberry defeated Odell McBrayer of Fort Worth.

Raza Unida again is running Ramsey Muniz of Corpus Christi for governor and Fred Garza for Railroad Commissioner. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will be opposed in the general election by GOP Gaylord Marshall of Dallas; Atty. Gen. John Hill by Tom Cole; Bob Bullock by James N. (Nick) Rowe of McAllen; Agriculture Commissioner John White by Zack Fisher of Memphis; Treasurer Jesse James by Robert G. Holt of Amarillo; Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong by Mary Lou Grier of Boerne. Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon by Joe P. Cain of Houston and Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace by Dale W. Steffes of Houston.

FUEL SHORTAGE CONTINUES — Once more, the statewide oil allowable (for June) has been set at a wide-open 100 per cent — for the 27th straight month — amid warnings that fuel shortages may last through summer.

Railroad Commissioner Langdon commended Texans for their conservation efforts. He noted that crude oil stocks in the state are up two million barrels over a year ago — to 93.3 million — and that U.S. supplies are up 8.1 million barrels.

Langdon credited voluntary energy-conservation efforts with the improved inventory picture, but he warned that heavy summer vacation travel may cause more lines at the pumps.

Nominations to purchase crude oil for the next month totalled 3,879,449 barrels, an increase of 18,684 barrels over May.

COURTS SPEAK — A Dallas man won a reversal and new trial of a murder conviction because the state placed in evidence an obituary of his slain wife.

The Court of Criminal Appeals also reversed the assault to murder sentence assessed a Harris County man due to introduction by the state of a marriage annulment petition purporting to show he had a violent temper.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a state savings and loan commissioner's order backed by an Austin court allowing Equitable Savings of Fort Worth to set up a branch office in Lubbock.

The State Supreme Court set a June 12 hearing in a suit over whether Day and Zimmermann Inc., which operates Lone Star Army Ammunition plant at Texarkana, must pay $112,668 in state sales taxes. The taxes were paid under protest on materials bought by the munitions maker. Day and Zimmerman claims the purchases were non-taxable, since they were made for the U.S. goverment.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

It doesn't concern me but I was interested in a brief news item I read the other day reporting that printers on the New York Daily News, the country's largest newspaper, were on strike against automation.

As I understand it, some bird who wasn't satisfied to leave well enough along has invented a printing process that almost eliminates printers, especially Linotype operators. It uses some sort of photo process which I'm not about to try to comprehend. I haven't figured out yet what makes a telephone work, when it does.

Anyway, seeing a threat to their jobs, the Linotype operators struck, forgetting I guess that when the Linotype was first invented the hand-set printers struck for the same reason, just as I suppose the scroll-writers did when hand-set type was invented, or the wandering ministrels did when the scroll-writers appeared. If they'd left the ministrels in charge we wouldn't have had all this trouble.

Some people contend that progress is like the frog trying to get out of a well by falling back five feet every time he jumps four, but they've got the analogy wrong. Actually progress consists of a frog's proudly gaining a foot every time he jumps but just as he nears the top somebody adds two more feet to the well curbing.

And even if by some Herculean effort he someday actually does clear the top and land in the open, most likely he'll find somebody waiting there hungry for frog legs.

However there is such a thing as progress. Have you ever stopped to think how few frogs are now confronted with the task of jumping out of wells because most people now get their water through pipes?

Oh, there are some backward countries still using open wells and I suppose from a theoretical standpoint you can say no frog is free till all frogs are free, still I believe I'd rather have an open well than to go thirsty, even if I have to get my frog legs at the supermarket.

I'm not sure this makes sense but I guess you could clear it up by furnishing your readers an edited transcript of it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

LS To Increase Spending

Capital expenditures in excess of 50 million dollars will be made this year by Lone Star Industries, Inc., compared to 37 million dollars last year, it was revealed at the company's annual meeting.

The amount has been allocated to each of the company's three operating groups, Cement and Construction Materials, National Building Centers and Diversified Industries.

John R. Kringel, president, also indicated that needed price increases on the company's major product lines are now being obtained, including good market acceptance of a second 1974 cement price increase to be effective July 1.

"In addition," he said, "there is general agreement that heavy construction volume will again achieve new records this year, and the government's recent action to stimulate the housing industry is bound to help. We are, therefore, confident that as the general economy strengthens and construction activity increases in the fair weather months at hand, Lone Star will continue its important earnings growth in our new corporate configuration."

If Motorcycles Were Bigger Than...

Well, bigger than motorcycles. Because when you're in your car, you aren't always used to looking for bikes and cycles. If motorcycles were bigger than your car, maybe you'd notice them.

The trouble is, there are a lot of people who depend upon motorcycles for transportation. Their safety . . . and yours . . . depends upon your being alert enough behind the wheel to notice them before it's too late.

Beef Main Dish Travels to Beach For Easy Eating

Take the bother and fuss out of putting together a meal at a picnic when the family spends the day at the beach. For a carefree and relaxing time, prepare a satisfying meal-in-a-dish in advance—one that can be brought to the beach ready to eat and kept hot in an insulated container.

The recipe for Beachcomber Beef Casserole is a tasty one that can be toted satisfactorily. It's a hearty combination of ground beef, corn and macaroni cooked in a spicy tomato sauce that will satisfy any beachcomber's robust appetite, says Reba Staggs, National Live Stock & Meat Board home economist.

Beachcomber Beef Casserole

2 pounds ground beef
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (8 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
1 package (7 or 8 ounces) macaroni, cooked and drained

Separate ground beef into 1-inch chunks in large frying-pan Add onion and green pepper and cook, stirring occasionally until lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle meat mixture with salt and pepper and add tomatoes, tomato sauce, corn and cooked macaroni. Place in a 2½ or 3-quart casserole. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 45 minutes, stirring once or twice during baking. 8 to 10 servings.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Expenses Up , Returns Down: Old Story Plaguing Cattlemen

By VALERIE HARPER
TDA Staff

Texas cattlemen, big and small, are confronting the problems of rising costs and low returns. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently, "The cattleman is in a squeeze. The high cost of feed is an old story now, but prices continue to climb in every area of farm and ranch life."

White noted that the man who paid $68 a ton last year for fertilizer paid $145 this year. His fuel prices skyrocketed. Weed killer rose by more than a third. If he bought a tractor, he paid $16,000 for a model that sold for $5,000 several years ago.

Typical of Texas ranchers and their problems are Glenn Raney and his father, Clyde, who own, rent and lease 1,300 acres outside Garland, a Dallas suburb.

Six hundred acres are pastureland for a herd of 200 cows and their calves. The size of the herd makes the Raneys typical cattlemen. According to White, 83 percent of U. S. beef cattle come from herds of 500 or less.

LIFELONG FARMERS

The Raneys have lived within a few miles of this land all their lives. Glenn, 43, can recall growing up behind a mule when the family worked 150 acres and everyone between his home and Garland were farmers.

But now they are thinking of selling out. The shadow of Metropolitan Dallas has steadily pushed taxes and land values skyward. Just down the road, Lake Ray Hubbard is drawing weekend boating enthusiasts, and Spanish and ranch style homes are sprouting on land that once grew cotton. The Raney's children -- Glenda, 15, and Brad, 11 -- are among the five remaining youngsters in a 25,000 - pupil school district whose parents farm.

In the past year, taxes on the 374 acres the Raneys own have tripled and the value of their land has risen more than five times what they paid in 1958. If they can find the right ranch at the right price in East Texas, they will leave their land in Dallas County to encroaching suburbia.

"There's more promise for a rancher in East Texas," Glenn Raney said.

OPTIMISTIC

"Promise" is an optimistic word. The Raneys figure they lost $20 a head this spring on every calf they sold to feedlots. Meanwhile, the same feedlots have reported losses of $150 and more on each steer going to slaughter.

Most of the Raney cattle are Herefords. The men grow most of their feed, which saves a lot of money.

Glenn's wife, Lazelle, a pleasant, open-faced woman with graying hair does her share of the work hauling cotton, keeping the books and taking care of the children. Except for an occasional hired hand, the family does all the work.

Lazelle complains of the busy, frugal life they live, but she does it with a smile. "We never buy anything unless we pay for it. That's why I live in this 60-year-old house. I drive a car to 200,000 miles and he drives a pick-up until it wears out. He does all his own repair work. We don't have as many material things as a lot of people, but we're not in debt."

Raney does not have much to say about the verbal beating farmers and ranchers take from consumers over high prices in the supermarket, but his wife does.

"We (farmers) are the only ones left that have no bargaining power," she said. "We have to pay the same prices as everyone else. You go to the grocery store and farmers get the first cussing. There's not any reason for meat to be so high. It's plentiful enough to eat it three times a day."

NOT FOREVER

"We're not gonna keep raisin' cattle forever and lose money," her husband added quietly.

But the prospect of another piece of land, one where there is "no more of this row-cropping business," continues to lure him. As Mrs. Raney put it, "The life has its ups and downs, but I wouldn't do anything else."

P&W Takes Request For Tank Stocking

Farm pond owners who want channel catfish and sunfish for their tanks this year must get in their applications to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department no later than June 1.

The department will provide channel cats and sunfish free of charge to private pond owners. To qualify for the service, the pond must never have been stocked with either of the fish or largemouth bass, have been completely dried and refilled since the last request or have had all fish chemically removed since the last request for fish.

According to hatchery coordinator Ted Lowman of Austin, the department's new computerized stocking system will be able to detect if pond owners have made requests in the past.

In no case will fish be stocked in ponds which presently contain catfish, sunfish or bass.

Channel cats and sunfish will be delivered between Aug. 15 and Nov. 1.

SOYBEANS UP AND COMING at Stiles Farm- This new crop of soybeans seems to be off to a good start at the Stiles Farm at Thrall in Williamson County. Looking over the plants are John Wakefield , left, Williamson County Extension agent, and John Box, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Soybeans will be one of the featured crops at the 12th annual Stiles Farm Foundation Field Day June 18. Field tours will begin at 2 p.m. followed by a program at 5 p.m. and a barbecue at 6.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES---

Screwworms Are Increasing

By Bill McCutchen

Vernon Kerns, Texas Department of Agriculture representative in this area reported last Thursday that screwworm cases have been confirmed in both Falls and Burleson counties.

This means that the likelihood of screwworm outbreaks occuring in Milam County is great and producers should be keeping a close watch on livestock.

Since about 30 percent of all confirmed screwworm cases have been collected from manmade wounds, every effort should be made to prevent wounding animals during the screwworm season.

Producers should inspect their animals frequently, treat wounds with an approved product, and collect and submit worm specimens to the screwworm laboratory at Mission, Texas for identification. Positive cases can then be given sterile fly treatment.

Shipping vials are available from veterinarians, or from the county Extension office.

LAWN FERTILIZING TIPS

The "secret formula for a healthy dark green lawn calls for plenty of good management, water and fertilizer. And, as far as fertilizer is concerned, nitrogen is the key to maintaing the green color.

A continuous supply of nitrogen must be available throughout the growing season. This requires topdressing fertilizer in the early spring when the grass begins to grow and at six to eight week intervals during the growing seaon.

If fertilizer containing special "slow release" nitrogen materials is used, higher rates per application can be used to extend the interval between applications.

Each time you fertilize, apply enough material to supply 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 sq. ft. Two pounds of nitrogen requires 15 pounds of 12-12-12, 10 pounds of ammonium sulfate or 6 pounds of ammonium nitrate. The amount of nitrogen needed depends on the composition of the fertilizer. The first number in the composition show on the fertlizer bag is the per cent of nitrogen.

Use fertilizer containing phosphorus and potassuim in the spring and fall. After several years of fertlization, these materials will generally build up so that only maintenance amounts will be needed annually.

Lack of nitrogen is the main cause of grass turning light green and yellow.

COTTON, STILL the Number 1 crop in Texas, brought in a total of $1,056,000,000 in 1973 from 4,673,000 bales, compared to $469,000,000 from 4,246,000 bales in 1972. The figures are from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service which said that total United States production in 1973 was 12,958,000 bales, compared to 13,704,100 bales in 1972. Lint cotton averaged 47.10 cents a pound in 1973, compared to 23 cents in 1972, and cottonseed brought an average of $94 a ton, compared to $48.60 in 1972.

TEXAS' 1973 cotton production was from 5,200,000 acres, which gives Texas a record 431 pounds of lint per acre, but below the 519 pounds national average. Arizona had the highest yield per acre with 1,063 pounds of lint, followed by California with 891 pounds, Mississippi with 645 pounds per acre. Mississippi was second to Texas in total production, with 1,800,000 bales, followed by California with 1,749,000 and Arkansas with 1,041,000 bales. Texas produced about 40 per cent of the nation's total cotton.

LIVESTOCK OWNERS are reminded to watch out for screwworms, because they are making an appearance over Texas. Samples of suspected screwworms should be mailed to the laboratory at Mission. Kits in which they may be mailed can be obtained from county agents. There were 176 identified cases of screwworms found in Texas during April, 1973. Cases were found in the following counties: Webb, Duval, Zapata, Starr, LaSalle, Dimmitt, Hidalgo, Live Oak, Kenedy, Jim Wells, Jim Hogg, Zavala, Dewitt, Kinney, San Patricio, Cameron, Goliad, Atascosa, Medina, Bee, Karnes, Victoria, Brooks, Willacy, Guadalupe, Wilson, Frio, Presidio, Real, Gillespie, Pecos, Terrell, Val Verde, Llano, Concho, Coleman, Bastrop, Fayette, Gonzales, Jackson, McMullen, Kleberg, Crockett, Kimbie, Kerr, Kendall, and Comal.

PARITY RATIO is reported to have dropped seven per cent during the month ending April 15, hitting 83 per cent. Prices paid farmers went down on many commodities, including cattle, eggs, corn, wheat, hogs, soybeans, rice, rye; and prices on cotton went up three cents a pound and on potatoes 73 cents a hundred. Wheat prices dropped almost a dollar, to $3.98 a bushel, which was 103 per cent of parity, but the price was still declining at last report. Texas' wheat crop, plagued by drouth, was estimated to be 69,300,000 bushels, compared to 98,600,000 bushels from the previous crop. Recent rains came to late to save the wheat in North and West Texas.

HARVEST OF peaches in South Texas and in the Hill Country is underway, with the crop expected to be about the same as last season when 312,500 bushels were picked. North and East Texas peach growers suffered the most damage from last winter's freezes, but the Hill Country reports almost no damage from cold weather, and the crop is expected to be around 75,000 bushels in that area slightly above the 1973 crop.

PLANTING OF grain sorghums was almost half complete in Texas at the end of the first week of May, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Rice seeding is almost complete, peanut planting is not quite a fourth complete, corn planting is nearing completion, and soybean planting is getting underway in some areas of the Upper Gulf Coast and in East Texas. Cotton planting, about a third complete, is running ahead of last year. The 1974 pecan crop is reported as looking "promising."

Farm Bureau Show Has Anniversary

WACO

A unique farm news radio program that started out as an experiment will observe its 20th anniversary of broadcasting on the weekend of May 25.

"Farm Bureau Roundup," a 15 - minute weekly radio show produced by the Texas Farm Bureau, features on-the-spot taped reports by a team of unpaid agricultural reporters around the state. It is currently broadcast as a public service by 103 radio stations in Texas.

The show is produced and directed in the Texas Farm Bureau office in Waco by Charley Manly, TFB radio news service director. Goodson McKee, president of McKee Recording Studio in Waco, has served as anchorman for the program since it began.

Conceived and directed for 12 years by TFB Information Director Bill Hoover, "Farm Bureau Roundup" made its debut on May 22, 1954, on 62 stations. Those stations promised they would keep airing the show if they liked it. Within six months more than 100 stations were broadcasting the program. The number of participating stations has never dropped below 100.

Search For Young Look Can Bring Tragedy

(This consumer alert from the office of John L. Hill, Texas Attorney General)

AUSTIN

Want to look 10 years younger, with a smooth, wrinkle-free skin or a full head of hair?

There are some commercial establishments that promise all this and more. They offer such things as face peeling and suture implantation to hold hairpieces.

Unfortunately, some doctors say, what they may also inadvertently deliver to some persons is a discolored, scarred face or an infected scalp.

The court of inquiry held in Dallas last summer to examine practices in the health and beauty industry revealed that some reducing spas offered such related services as face peeling, sometimes called "chemotherapy."

Some establishments claim to use "secret chemical formulas" to peel off the outer skin, theoretically leaving smooth, youthful skin free of wrinkles and blotches.

But no matter what the "secret formula" the process invariably involves applying some caustic chemical (often carbolic acid) to the face to, in effect, "burn away" the top layer of skin.

Plastic surgeons and other physicians sometimes regard the process as a helpful procedure when performed under medical supervision by trained personnel on certain individuals after extensive skin tests. It is sometimes used after a surgical face lift to remove any tiny scars.

However, at the court of inquiry, doctors testified that in the hands of unskilled individuals, the process could result in pain, swelling, redness, and blisters. More permanent damage could include infection, scaring, and an inability to stand sunlight.

The Federal Trade Commission ha ordered several face peeling establishments to tell prospective customers in their advertising and promotional material just what is involved in the peeling process, and what it can lead to.

But the idea of being able to "peel away" the years seems to have attracted many people. The procedure should only be used after consultation with your personal doctor, however.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys remind consumers, too, to read any contract or agreement carefully, since it may contain disclaimers that release the individual or establishment offering the service from certain responsibilities.

Another service designed to appeal to the desire to look younger or more attractive is "suture implantation" This is a procedure which involves implanting wire or plastic in the scalp to hold a hairpiece securely.

The FTC says there is a high probability of discomfort and pain, and a risk of infection or scarring, since the sutures remain in the scalp permanently.

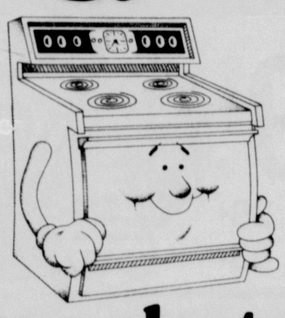
Reducing plan for energy users



Plan C
How to save electricity when using ranges

1. When using top-of-range utensils, cover tightly and cook with minimum of water. Cooking's faster; less energy's used. Food looks and tastes better, too.
2. Use flat-bottomed utensils for best contact with heating surface. Use proper size utensils. A 6" pan on an 8" heating surface wastes energy.
3. Preheat oven only when needed and only to temperature stated. Normal preheat is 10 minutes; any longer wastes energy.
4. When broiling, do not preheat. Leave door ajar...air circulation insures proper broiling.
5. Use oven fully. Fill it with foods that cook at same temperature. Freeze extras for later use.
6. Center pans in from oven sides, staggered above each other (no overlap) for best heat distribution.
7. Keep oven shut. Opening door drops temperature 25° or more; wastes energy.
8. Thaw frozen meats before cooking.
9. Do not use oven or surface heating elements for home heating.
10. Turn range off immediately when finished.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call or see the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

Review Insurance Program

"How long has it been since you reviewed your total insurance program?

"In most cases, it's probably been too long," contends Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Personal insurance such as life, health and accident should be reviewed at least annually or each time family obligations change. Property insurance needs reviewing anytime a major change occurs in the property insured or in its replacement value."

While estimates show that the average value of houses has increased by 30 per cent in Texas over the past five years, less than a quarter of the residents have increased their insurance coverage, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Before reviewing your insurance policies, remember that you buy insurance as protection from disastrous financial losses," reminds Hayenga.

"When making the annual insurance review, always ask yourself if you still need each type of insurance. If your financial position has changed, you might be able to withstand certain losses without insurance.

"Life and accident insurance protect survivors in case the breadwinner loses his earning ability. Property insurance is designed to help replace property in case something happens to it, while liability insurance provides protection if you damage other people's property," explains the economist.

Does GOD see the gap?

Whenever you hear about a generation gap, you can be sure you're getting a human, biased point of view. Each generation is sure!

Yet there is a divine view. It concentrates on the oneness of all generations . . . on all the blessings and opportunities that God continues to bestow. "His truth endureth to all generations," said the Psalmist.

When Great-Grandma holds little Linda in her arms next Sunday, she'll be thinking gratefully of all the gifts they have in common — from the Lord. And she'll be praying that Linda will be brought up to cherish those gifts.

The generation gap—like all differences — disappears when human intelligence grasps God's point of view.

They demonstrated tools and equipment and their upkeep and use, and included new methods of record keeping for the farmer and rancher.

These two demonstrations won first places in county and district competition and will be given at the state 4-H contest set for the Round-up in College Station in June.

They will be part of a group of 12 4-H'ers from Milam County who will attend the contest.

Also going will be the senior entomology team which includes Rebecca Riola, Jan Burke, Shirley Junek and Rosemary Ehler.

Others include Tammy Gray, conservation and natural resources; Randy Gray, public speaking; Robin Gray, money management. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gray of Thorndale.

Buckholts Lutherans Set Revival

Evangelistic revial meetings will be held at Hope Lutheran Church, Buckholts, May 26-30, with guest speaker Sterling R. Johnson, of Minnesota.

Each meeting, with hymn singing, prayer and an inspiring message, will begin at 8 p.m., Sunday through Thursday.

Pastor Johnson was educated at the University of Denver and is a graduate of Lutheran Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minnesota. Upon his ordination into the ministry, he served parishes at Raymond, Washington; Alberta, Canada; DeKalb, Illinois; and Leland, Illinois. For two years he served as a Lutheran evangelist in Canada, and then on the staff of the Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute, Camrose, Alberta, as teacher-evangelist.

In recent years, Rev. Johnson has continued his ministry of evangelism for the L. E. M. (Lutheran Evangelistic Movement), which is a free organization working within the Lutheran Church. He was the featured evangelist for last year's program here at Hope Lutheran, and was well received. The meetings this year promise to be just as meaningful. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend one or all of these 8 p.m. meetings.

Boys State To Meet At Austin

As the school year draws to a close more than 872 high school junior boys will assemble on the Campus of The University of Texas in Austin, June 12 for the 1974 session of American Legion Boys State, Lynn Steward, Department Commander, has announced.

Delegates will converge on Austin and commence registration at 2 p.m., Wednesday, June 12, at Jester Center. Following an evening meal the new citizens of Boys State will assemble for orientation in their respective Boys State cities.

Highlight of this year's program will be the appearance of top leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties.

The program sponsored by The American Legion, Department of Texas, is an annual event in which the organization teachers boys the responsibilities of citizenship in actual "do it yourself" type program from which comes its motto, "Learn by Doing."

The eight hundred and seventy-two boys will be housed in 18 Boys State Cities with each city further divided into two precincts, one for the Federalist and one for the Nationalist.

KIDS WILL BE KIDS — A young visitor to the petting zoo at Six Flags Over Texas proves for himself that goats don't limit their diet to tin cans. The share-and-share-alike plan didn't work. After the photo was snapped, the baby goat made off with the whole ice cream bar, stick and all.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Pesticides have been blamed for fish kills and upsetting the reproduction cycles of various birds, but in meeting agricultural and health needs in Texas they are a way of life.

Man's need for food and fiber is increasing with the population, says the State Health Department, and advancing technology is helping today's farmers and ranchers meet the demands.

Eighty-four per cent of Texas land is devoted to agriculture, and the industry adds $7.3 billion to the Texas economy. Vegetables, milk, fruits, nuts, honey, natural fibers, meat, eggs, grain--all bear the Texas brand. But wrestling them from the soil is not easy. Texans are affected by the age-old problems of weather, rodents, insects and weeds. Among the conditions influencing the work of these farmers and ranchers is a relatively new condition: ecological awareness.

If man is to raise sufficient food stuffs, it has become apparent that fertilizers and pesticides are necessary in their production. It is obvious also that public health considerations must be given to such measures as fly and mosquito control and protection of warehoused foodstuffs.

And, it has become equally apparent that strict controls are necessary for the application and use of pesticides.

A bulletin from the United States Environmental Protection Agency has a statement on pesticides:

"Pesticides are of great benefit to man. They have saved millions of lives thru control of disease-carrying insects. They have minimized catastrophic crop damage by insects, weeds, plant diseases, rodents and other pests, preserved valuable forest and parkland from insect destruction. and protected households against damaging beetles, moths and other bugs. Generally, they have provided a higher quality of life for man.

"However, pest control chemicals are poisons that, if used improperly or without sufficient knowledge of their side effects, can endanger man and animals due to their toxicity, In addition, potential future hazards to human health and wildlife can be created by residues from some long lived pesticides that may build up in the food chain and cause widespread contamination of the environment."

The Texas State Department of Health has long had a hand in the environmental monitoring of pesticide levels and operates a pesticides laboratory at San Benito. While pesticide levels in the environment are greatest near the areas of use, they have been found in the Antarctic and other areas far from the points of application.

New Passive Belt System Developed for 1975 Cars

Buyers of 1975 model cars could have their choice between the "active" interlock seat belt system now required on 1974 cars and a new passive belt restraint system developed by Volkswagen of America.

According to Wm. M. Coffey, general manager of the American Automobile Association, Texas Division, the Department of Transportation has proposed a change in its standard for passive belt requirements that would allow passive belt systems to be used in place of the present interlock system. The proposal is the result of a petition for rulemaking to DOT's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) by VW.

VW's belt restraint, says Coffey, requires no "buckling up" on the part of the user and automatically restrains when necessary.

It consists of a single diagonal belt that runs across the torso, an emergency-locking inertia reel retractor that automatically adjusts belt length, and an energy absorbing foam-padded knee bolster located just below the car's dashboard.

As the car door opens, the retracting device permits the belt to "pay out," giving access to the seat. After the driver or passenger sits down, the door is closed and the excess belt is taken up by the retracting device.

When emergency braking or a collision requires a sudden stop, the belt's inertia reel locks, restraining the occupant's torso. At the same time, the knee bar prevents occupants from sliding forward and "Submarining" out of the torso belt. The system is designed to provide occupant protection in 30-mile-per-hour front barrier crashes.

VW also says that front seat occupants are not restricted in movement under normal driving conditions.

Both the VW restraint system and the present system employ an ignition - interlock, which prevents the engine from starting until seat belts are in place, and both are equipped with a switch to temporarily disconnect the interlock system in case of emergency.

VW's switch, though, is located inside the car, at each door anchorage, instead of under the hood as in most 1974 models. If the belt is disconnected while the engine is running, a warning buzzer and dashboard light will go on.

VW, says Coffey, contends that its new development is superior to the controversial air bag in many respects. Among them:

--While the air bag primarily protects riders in frontal collisions, VW says its system also protects in other types of accidents, including lateral, roll-over and multiple-impact accidents. (Current air bag systems do not protect against roll-overs or multiple - impact crashes, since the bags deflate seconds after the first impact).

--The passive belt system works faster than the air cushion, restraining instantly because it does not have to be inflated.

--The auto company says it is far less expensive than complex air bag restraints (although it costs slightly more than the present three-point interlock system).

World Team Tennis Begins First Season

By Jack Cavanaugh

NEW YORK Reuter -- World Team Tennis, scoffed at by the Tennis establishment when it was conceived a year ago, begins its first season next week -- convinced that the American mania for team sport coupled with the current tennis boom will make it a rousing success.

With 109 players under contract, including many of the world's top stars, each of the league's 16 teams will embark on a 44-match schedule that will run through the end of August.

But even though such stars as John Newcombe, Billie Jean King, Ken Rosewall, Evonne Goolagong and Jimmy Connors are in the WTT fold, the league begins operation unsure of whether it can gain spectator acceptance. Indeed, the skeptics, both in and outside the tennis establishment, out number the optimists.

Originally opposed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation, the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association and the Association of Tennis Professionals, the league finally succeeded in obtaining sanction from the ILTA and the USLTA. But it did so only after it had agreed to paysanctions amounting to $152,000 and to a three-week break in its schedule which would permit WTT players to play at Wimbledon, in Davis Cup competition and in several national events.

While WTT has signed a number of leading players to lucrative contracts, it has been unable to entice such stars as Stan Smith, Ilie Nastase, Rod Laver, Arthur Ashe, Chris Evert and Britain's Virginia Wade. All of whom are convinced that, once the league manifests its hoped-for success, if indeed it does so, those players and others who sign contracts -- either for the latter half of this season or at least for 1975.

In an attempt to generate spectator interest -- and to avoid long matches -- World Team Tennis has come up with a revolutionary format. Each night's match will consist of one men's singles, one women's singles and one mixed doubles, with each individual match consisting of two sets. The league will use a no-add, no-deuce scoring system, with the first player to win four points winning the game. Also, the first player to win six games wins the set, although sets must be won by a margin of two games.

When sets reach 6-All, they will be decided by best-of-nine-point tiebreakers. Matches will be decided on the basis of most games won overall in the men's and women's singles and the mixed doubles.

Actually, matches will be divided into halfs. In the first half, one set of each of the three events (men's and women's singles and the mixed -doubles), followed by a 15-minute intermission, and then the second half during which the second set of each event will be played.

3-Night Rodeo Set At Rockdale

A Three-night rodeo with all the thrills and spills of the sport, is scheduled for June 6-7-8 during Rockdale's May 31-June 9 Centennial celebration.

Members of the Rockdale Roping and Cutting Club, the organization that annually sponsors the Rockdale rodeo, are busy planning the event which will unfold at 1 p.m. at the club's Fair Park Arena.

Henry Davidson, club spokesman, said the Championship Rodeo Co. of Buffalo will be the stock producer and that a top-flight rodeo is in the making.

Events each night will include bareback riding, tie-down calf roping, bull riding, ribbon roping, ladies barrel racing and a calf scramble for children age 12 and under.

Entry fees are $20 for the bronc and bull riding and roping events, $10 for barrel racing and there is no entry charge for the scrambles.

A special attraction at each rodeo performance will be a widely-acclaimed Western act, Clint Harlow and his trained sheep dogs and monkeys.

Hundreds of trail riders will come to Rockdale for the opening performance on June 6, and will be treated to a barbecue supper prior to taking part in the grand entry at the arena.

The trail riders are scheduled to parade through downtown Rockdale at 5 p.m. The rides will come from Milano-Gause, Salty, Lexington, Davilla, Caldwell, Thorndale, Chriesman and Cameron.

Two Western dances are planned in conjunction with the rodeo, Both will be held at the Fair Park pavilion and will be sponsored by the roping club. The Moods of Country Music will play for the first, on June 5, and The Country Music Revue will provide the music on June 8.

Sports-Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

QUICKIES:

Blackie Sherrod, the colorful Dallas author on UT's equally colorful football coach: " 'When the town bully finally gets a licking,' says philosopher Darrell Royal, 'then guys line up to take him on.' " ... Some people will make any excuse to get to Las Vegas. Have you noticed how many sporting events wind up in that out-of-the way, thinly - populated desert oasis? All last week the Las Vegas airport was literally crawling with young, lithe ~~athlets~~, coming -and-going, rackets under their arms. Something called the Caesar's Palace - Alan King Tennis Championships. And, it did attract the world's best net hustlers.

Orville Henry, the Little Rock Journalist, was explaining the Fellowship of Christian Athletes to his readers: "Christianity is a matter of free choice. So is football. Both require great love and dedication. Neither can be forced successfully on anyone. They can go together, but only on a voluntary basis." True, but there have been some who've tried to foolishly use the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in college recruiting.

BIG DAVE:

Well, Dave Smith's fourth SMU Assistant, Former UT end, Tommy Lucas has left. Lucas is headed back to Austin for a business career. "It was not a hard decision," Lucas says. "I will not miss coaching, at all." At last, an honest man. . .

You've got to have some muscle under the boards to have good rebounding. Aggie Basketball Coach Shelby Metcalf didn't hurt himself there, signing Doug Metzger, Marble Falls' 6-7 postman who just happens to have won the state Class AA shot-put championship. . . Just down the road, at Burnet, Texas signed Robbie Robertson, a backstroker. You'll recognize his Papa, Tex Robertson, the fellow who used to coach all those SWC Championship Swim teams.

Pedernales Park Open To Camping

Pedernales Falls State Scenic Park is now open for overnight camping at campsites offering water, picnic tables and access to restrooms.

The park, located 14 miles east of Johnson City, has been open to primitive camping by reservation only, but the gates were closed at night to other visitors.

Formerly the Circle Bar Ranch, the area typifies the Edwards Plateau with its live oaks, deer, turkey and stone hills. Intermittent creeks and rivulets, some spring-fed the year-round, tumble over limestone on their way to the cypress-lined Pedernales River which winds through the park for six miles.

The zaniest baseball holdout probably was George "Rube" Ellis, crack St. Louis outfielder, back in 1908. Ellis refused to sign his contract until he got what he was holding out for -- $2.50 -- to buy a new fielder's glove!

LL Yanks Score Win Over Bears

A triple, single and home run on errors brought the Little League Yankees from behind in the bottom of the final inning Tuesday night to score a 7-5 win over the Bears in opening games for both teams at Cameron's new Little League park.

Two Yankees scored on a hard hit triple by Ricky Gaskey and a single by Yankee pitcher Jasper Hardin brought Gaskey in to put the Yankees ahead 6-7.

The Bears were charged with two errors in the final play that gave Jeff Kimbrel a home run and the Yankees a two run margin.

Pitchers for the Yankees were Ricky Gaskey and Hardin. Pitching for the Bears were Tim Mitchan, Kenneth Stevens and Johnny Yates.

Indians - White Sox

In the second Little League game Tuesday night White Sox hitter James Mondrik drove a ball over the fence for a home run in the top of the third that also brought in a man on second and put the White Sox in front 2-0.

The Indians countered in the bottom of the third with Fuochia Canady and Ronney Henley scoring.

The tie was broken in the bottom of the final inning when a double hit by Jason Raymond brought Henley across home plate again and gave the Indians a 3-2 win.

Alan Sapp was winning pitcher. Steve Vrazel pitched for the White Sox.

Minors, LL Playing At New Field

Minor League ball games have started at the new baseball field and Little League play started Tuesday evening.

Minor League scores so far:

Lions 14-Yankees 5
Hustlers 8-Giants 5
Tigers 4-White Sox 2
Giants 10-Yankees 8
Lions 4-White Sox 2
Tigers 10-Hustlers 6

A complete schedule of Minor and Little League games will be released by coaches Thursday, and will appear in the Monday Herald.

Memorial Gifts Aid Cancer Fight

An indication of the growing popularity of the American Cancer Society's memorial program was given today by Mrs. R. W. Wells, memorial chairman for the North Milam County Unit.

Mrs. Wells said that memorial gifts to the unit totaled $460 so far this year.

"The rapid growth of memorial giving is due to a keener public appreciation of the fact that more tools are needed in the fight against cancer," Mrs. Wells stated.

"Research against cancer has widened tremendously, and most scientists now believe that the disease will be conquered before many more years have passed," she said.

Mrs. Wells said that the memorial gifts received by the local Unit of the American Cancer Society are make not only as remembrances of those who have died of cancer, but frequently in honor of happier events, such as birthdays and anniversaries.

"Some donors," she said, "have established the habit of making memorial gifts on Memorial Day and at other regular intervals during the year."

Every memorial gift is acknowledged with a dignified white card naming the person in whose honor the gift is made. This card is sent to the person designated by the donor. It does not state the amount of the gift.

Mrs. Wells said that the process of making a memorial gift is simple. The only information needed is the name of the person honored and the name and address of the person to whom acknowledgement should be sent. Special envelopes are available by calling 697-2321 or by writing to Mrs. Wells at P. O. Box 748 in Cameron.

Autopsies Show Effects Of Smokers Emphysema

Autopsies of people who die from emphysema show effects of cigarette smoking on their lungs. Now new studies of apparently healthy smokers also show emphysema at work.

It usually takes years for emphysema to develop. Years of heavy smoking. By the time shortness of breath becomes a constant complaint, the disease is well-developed.

But new research shows the disease is in progress when there are no symptoms at all, and at young ages. Researchers at the Brookdale Hospital Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York, studied lung sections from autopsies of 214 adults who were victims of homicide or sudden, accidental death.

They recorded the victims' age, previous illness, long-term place of residence, occupation, complete autopsy findings, cause and circumstances of death. From the next of kin, they documented the person's smoking habits.

Then, they determined the degree of emphysema in the lungs. Lighter smokers showed intermediate grades of emphysema. Heavy smokers had much higher ones. For both men and women, the average grade of emphysema rose directly with the degree of cigarette smoking.

One unexpected finding showed that relatively young women in their early thirties who were heavy smokers showed advanced forms of emphysema; until recently, emphysema in women at young ages was a rare event. Women who were nonsmokers but much older, in contrast, had no indications of advanced disease.

Early stages of emphysema were also noted in young men who smoked several packs a day; this was almost never seen in nonsmoking men in the same age. Some degrees of emphysema were even present in men at ages 24 who smoked several packs a day.

To find out more about the causes of severe lung disease, contact your lung association. It's a matter of life and breath.

Storm Ranch To Host Cattlemen

Storm Ranch, Dripping Springs, will host cattlemen from Texas and surrounding states at a "Polled Hereford Day--U.S.A.," Thursday, June 6, with registration beginning at 8 a.m.

This will be one of a series of unique, regional summer activities across the U.S. that are designed to keep cattlemen informed about the latest developments in the beef cattle industry. "Polled Hereford Days--U.S.A." are the culmination of 10 years of American Polled Hereford Association (APHA) - sponsored National Clinics and Cattlemen's Conferences.

According to Storm Ranch's owner Lynn Storm and manager Dobb Watson, registration will be followed by a session on estimated breeding value of beef cattle, a concept emphasized at the 1973 American Cattlemen's Conference. Persons attending the event will be involved in demonstrations and contests.

Rep. Poage Opposes Dumping

U. S. Congressman W. R. Poage issued a strong statement today, opposing the proposed use of Central Texas farm and ranch lands as a chemical waste dumping ground.

"I think it is perfectly absurd," Poage said, "to contend that dumping millions of gallons of poisons and toxins into this land will not present any danger to people, cattle, crops, and wildlife of the Texas heartland. If there is only one chance in a million that this pollution could poison even one child, then that is sufficient reason to denounce it; and to say that there will be no leaks to surface and underground water supply in an area that has over 30 inches annual rainfall just simply is not true.

"Although this proposed site is not directly in my District, I fully intend to join my friend, Congressman Olin E. Teague in strongly opposing this application," said Poage. "To me, it is a matter of principle, and I intend to call Governor Briscoe today and ask that he prevail upon the Texas Water Quality Board to deny this request. It is cases like this," Poage said "that gets the Federal Government involved in our local affairs. If the State allows such indiscriminate violations to the lives and property of these Central Texas people, then at some point, the Federal Government will step in and take over that responsibility."

Poage says, "There are millions of acres of land in this country with very little rainfall and very sparse population. Projects such as this should be taken to those areas and not to areas like Central Texas, where you have fine agricultural lands.

LIFE BEGINS AT 40°

As outdoor living is again an important part of our lives, many of us are concerned about food safety. Armed with some basic information about food borne illnesses and spoilage, you can be more confident about food buying, storing, handling, and preparing.

Time and temperature are very important in food safety. Life of microorganisms which cause food borne illnesses—begins at 40°F, where they begin to grow and multiply. The warmer it is, the faster they grow. These organisms are killed with temperatures over 140°F.

Good food handling practices—from store to kitchen to table and proper refrigeration and/or freezer storage are your best insurance against food borne diseases and spoilage.

Here are some important do's to remember.

- Get your food purchases home and refrigerated or frozen as soon as possible. Don't let groceries sit in a warm car while you do errands.
- Keep hot foods Hot (above 40°F.) and cold food Cold (below 40°F.) to prevent microscopic growths which cause food borne illnesses.
- Take special care to clean thoroughly all utensils, cutting boards and yes, even hands before and after handling raw meat, fish, poultry, egg and other foods to help prevent spreading bacteria.
- Leftovers should go directly into the refrigerator, rather than cooling gradually. To reserve, reheat and boil gently for several minutes before serving—and serve hot!
- Freeze foods promptly. Plan ways to use large quantities of leftovers and freeze in small batches for later use. If in doubt about a food—don't hesitate. Throw it out!
- Keep picnic foods on ice or as close to 40°F. as possible and never keep custard or cream-type foods unrefrigerated for over 4 hours.

Follow a few precautions and enjoy a summer of outdoor living.
